

Friends & Families

I do have an app in the app store, please take a look:

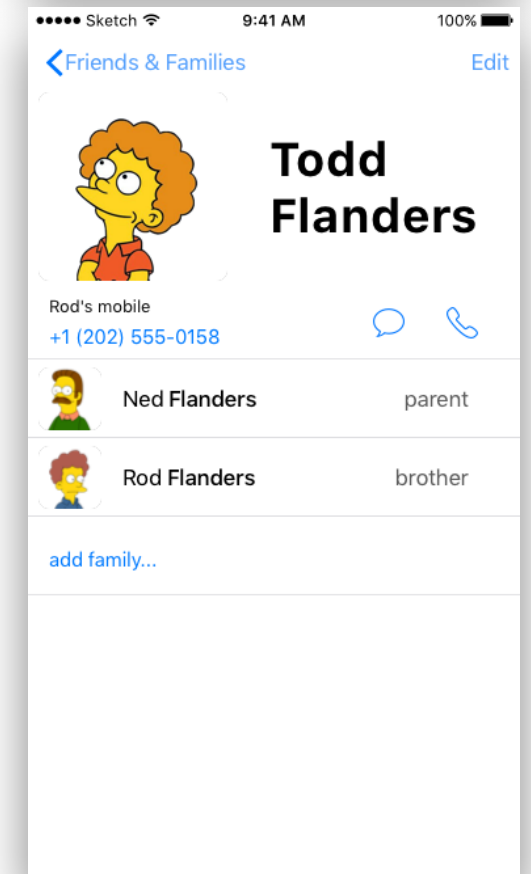

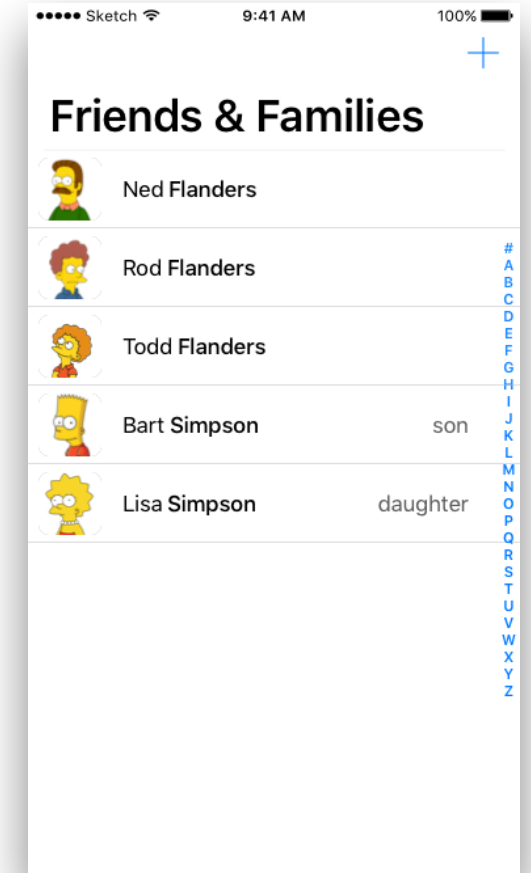

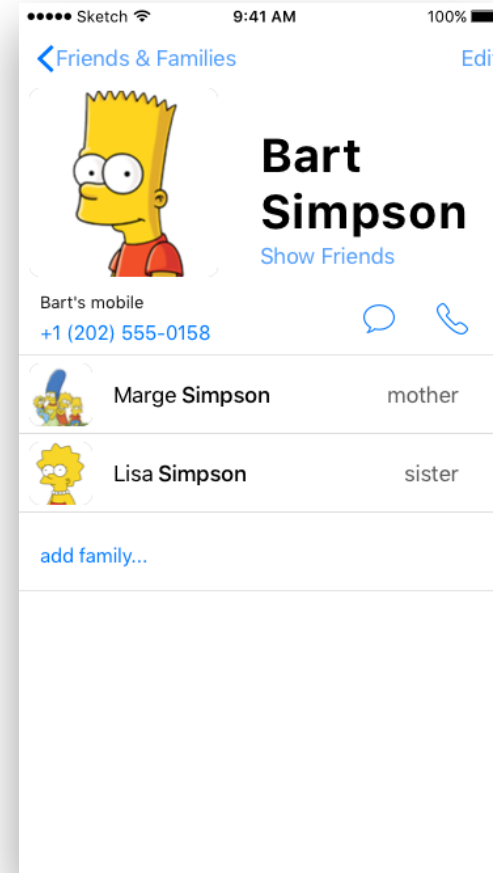

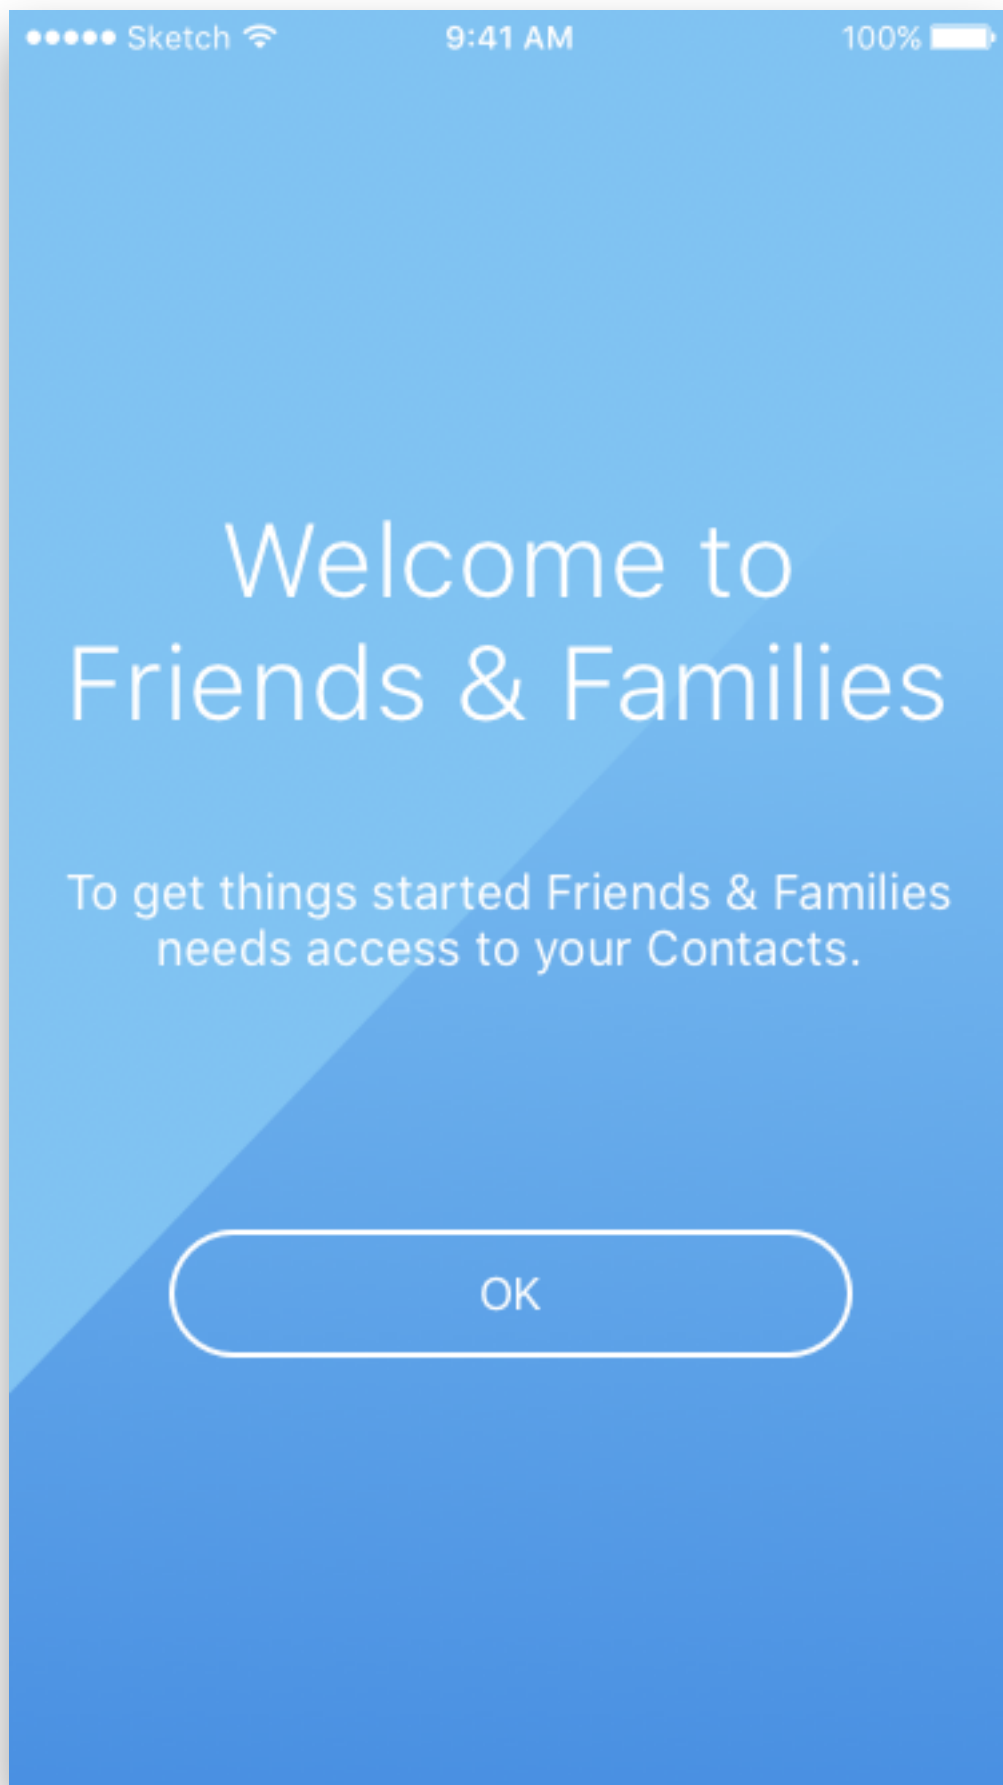

After moving here, my daughters were meeting all kinds of new friends, having come from a small town where everyone knew everyone it was an adjustment. So I designed & built an app that would let me associate my kids with their friends and then further link those friends with their families/parents. It has made it a lot easier to know names and number and addresses of these families.

It's in the App Store here (yes, I know about the typos):

<https://itunes.apple.com/us/app/friends-families/id1321538272>

The UX design.

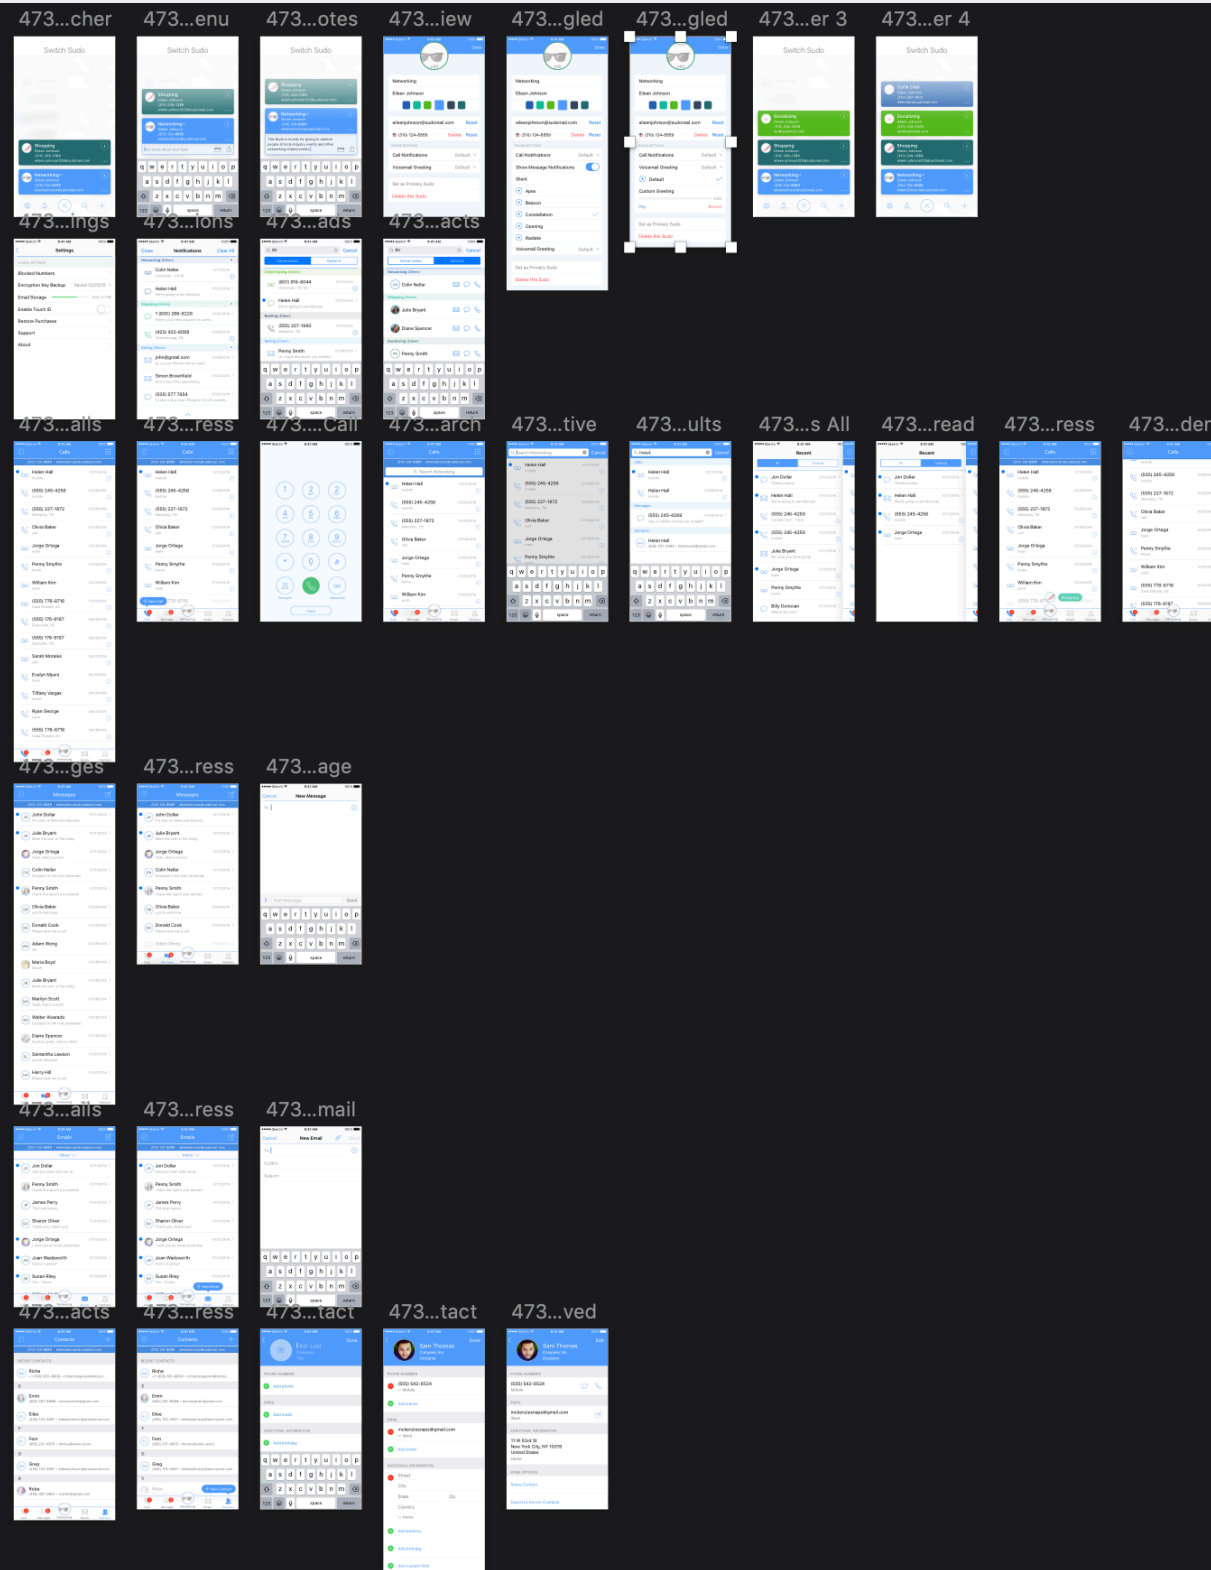

SudoApp

SudoApp from Anonymome Labs allowed users to create and delete temporary (or permanent) identities. Each of these identities come with a customizable name, email address and phone number.

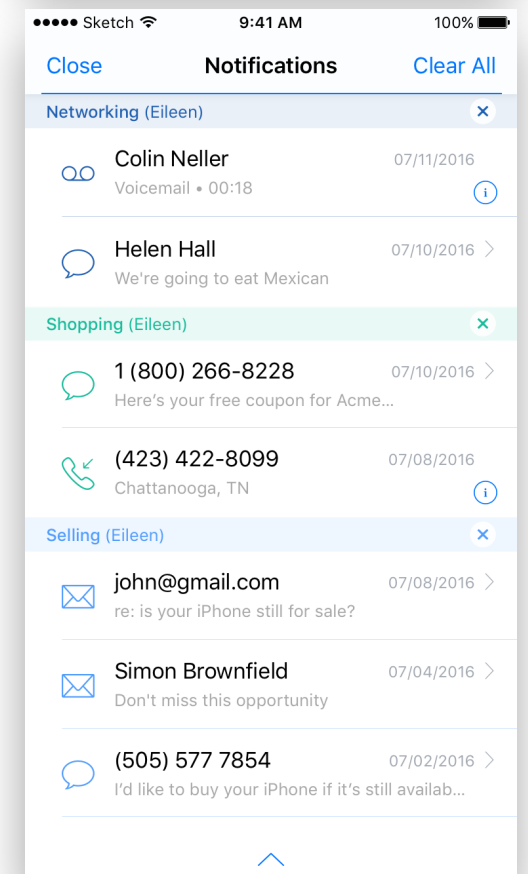

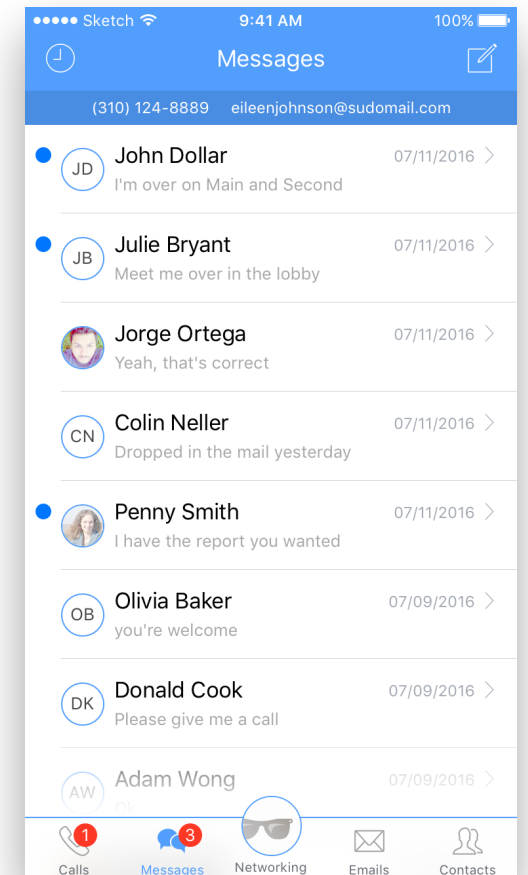

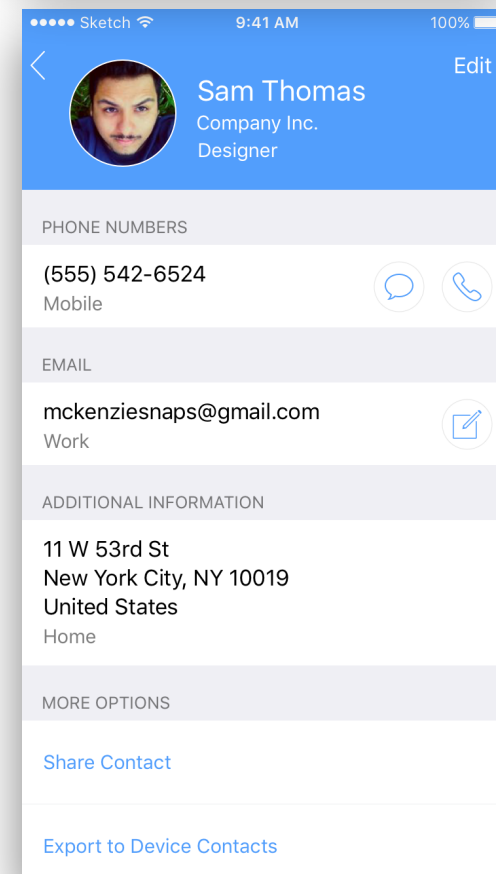

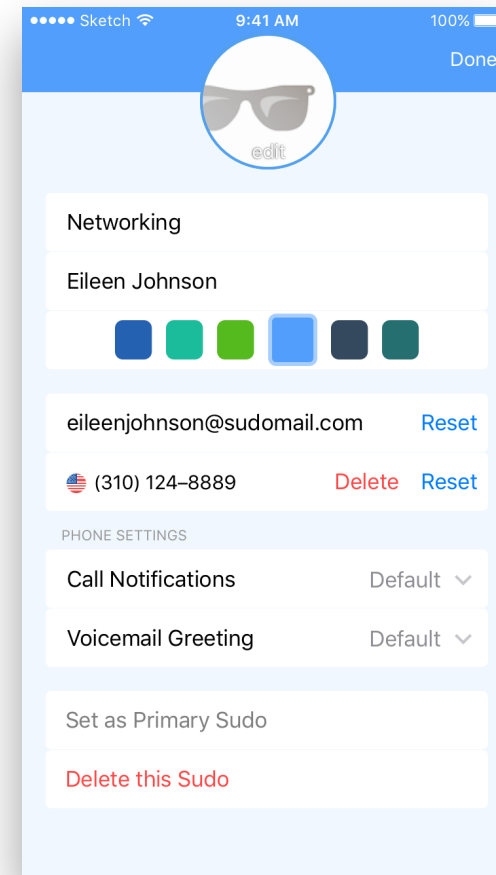

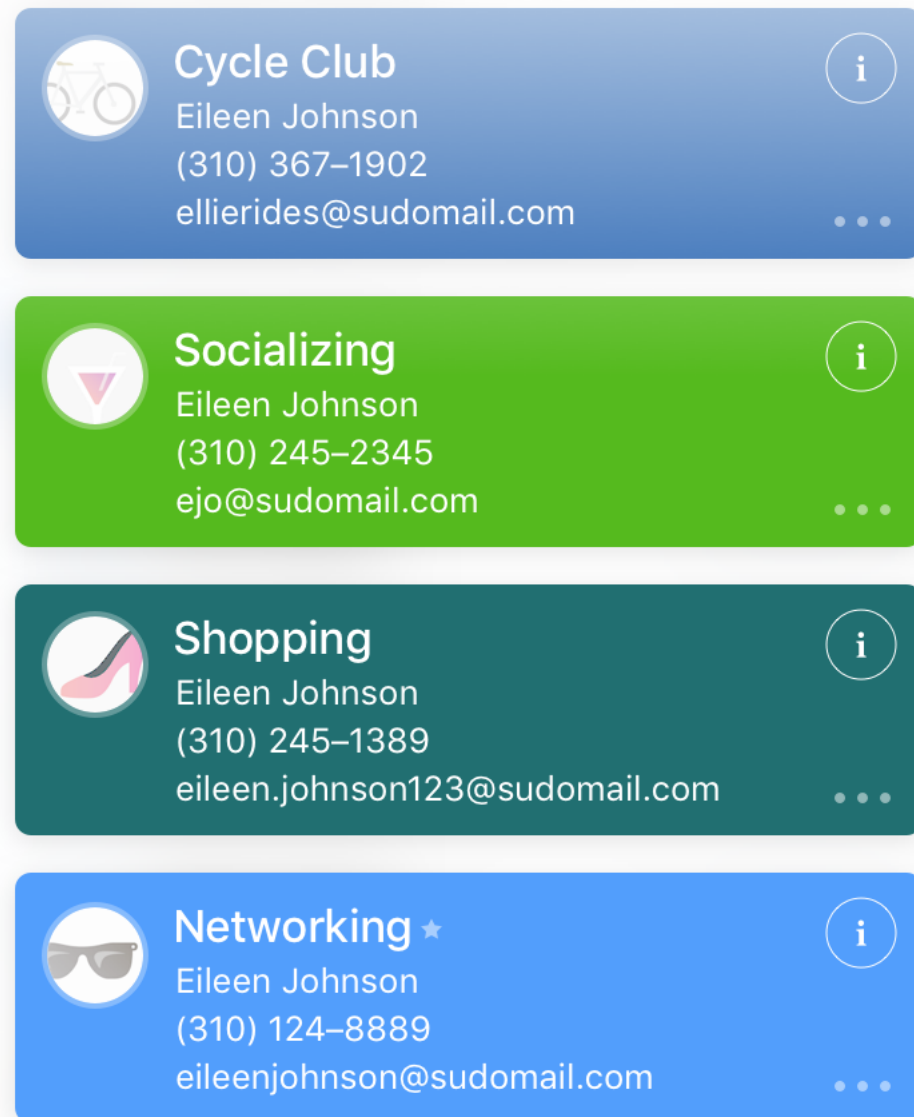

All communication happened inside the app – each persona had an inbox with emails and threaded SMS messages.

I did a complete overhaul of the UI and UX.

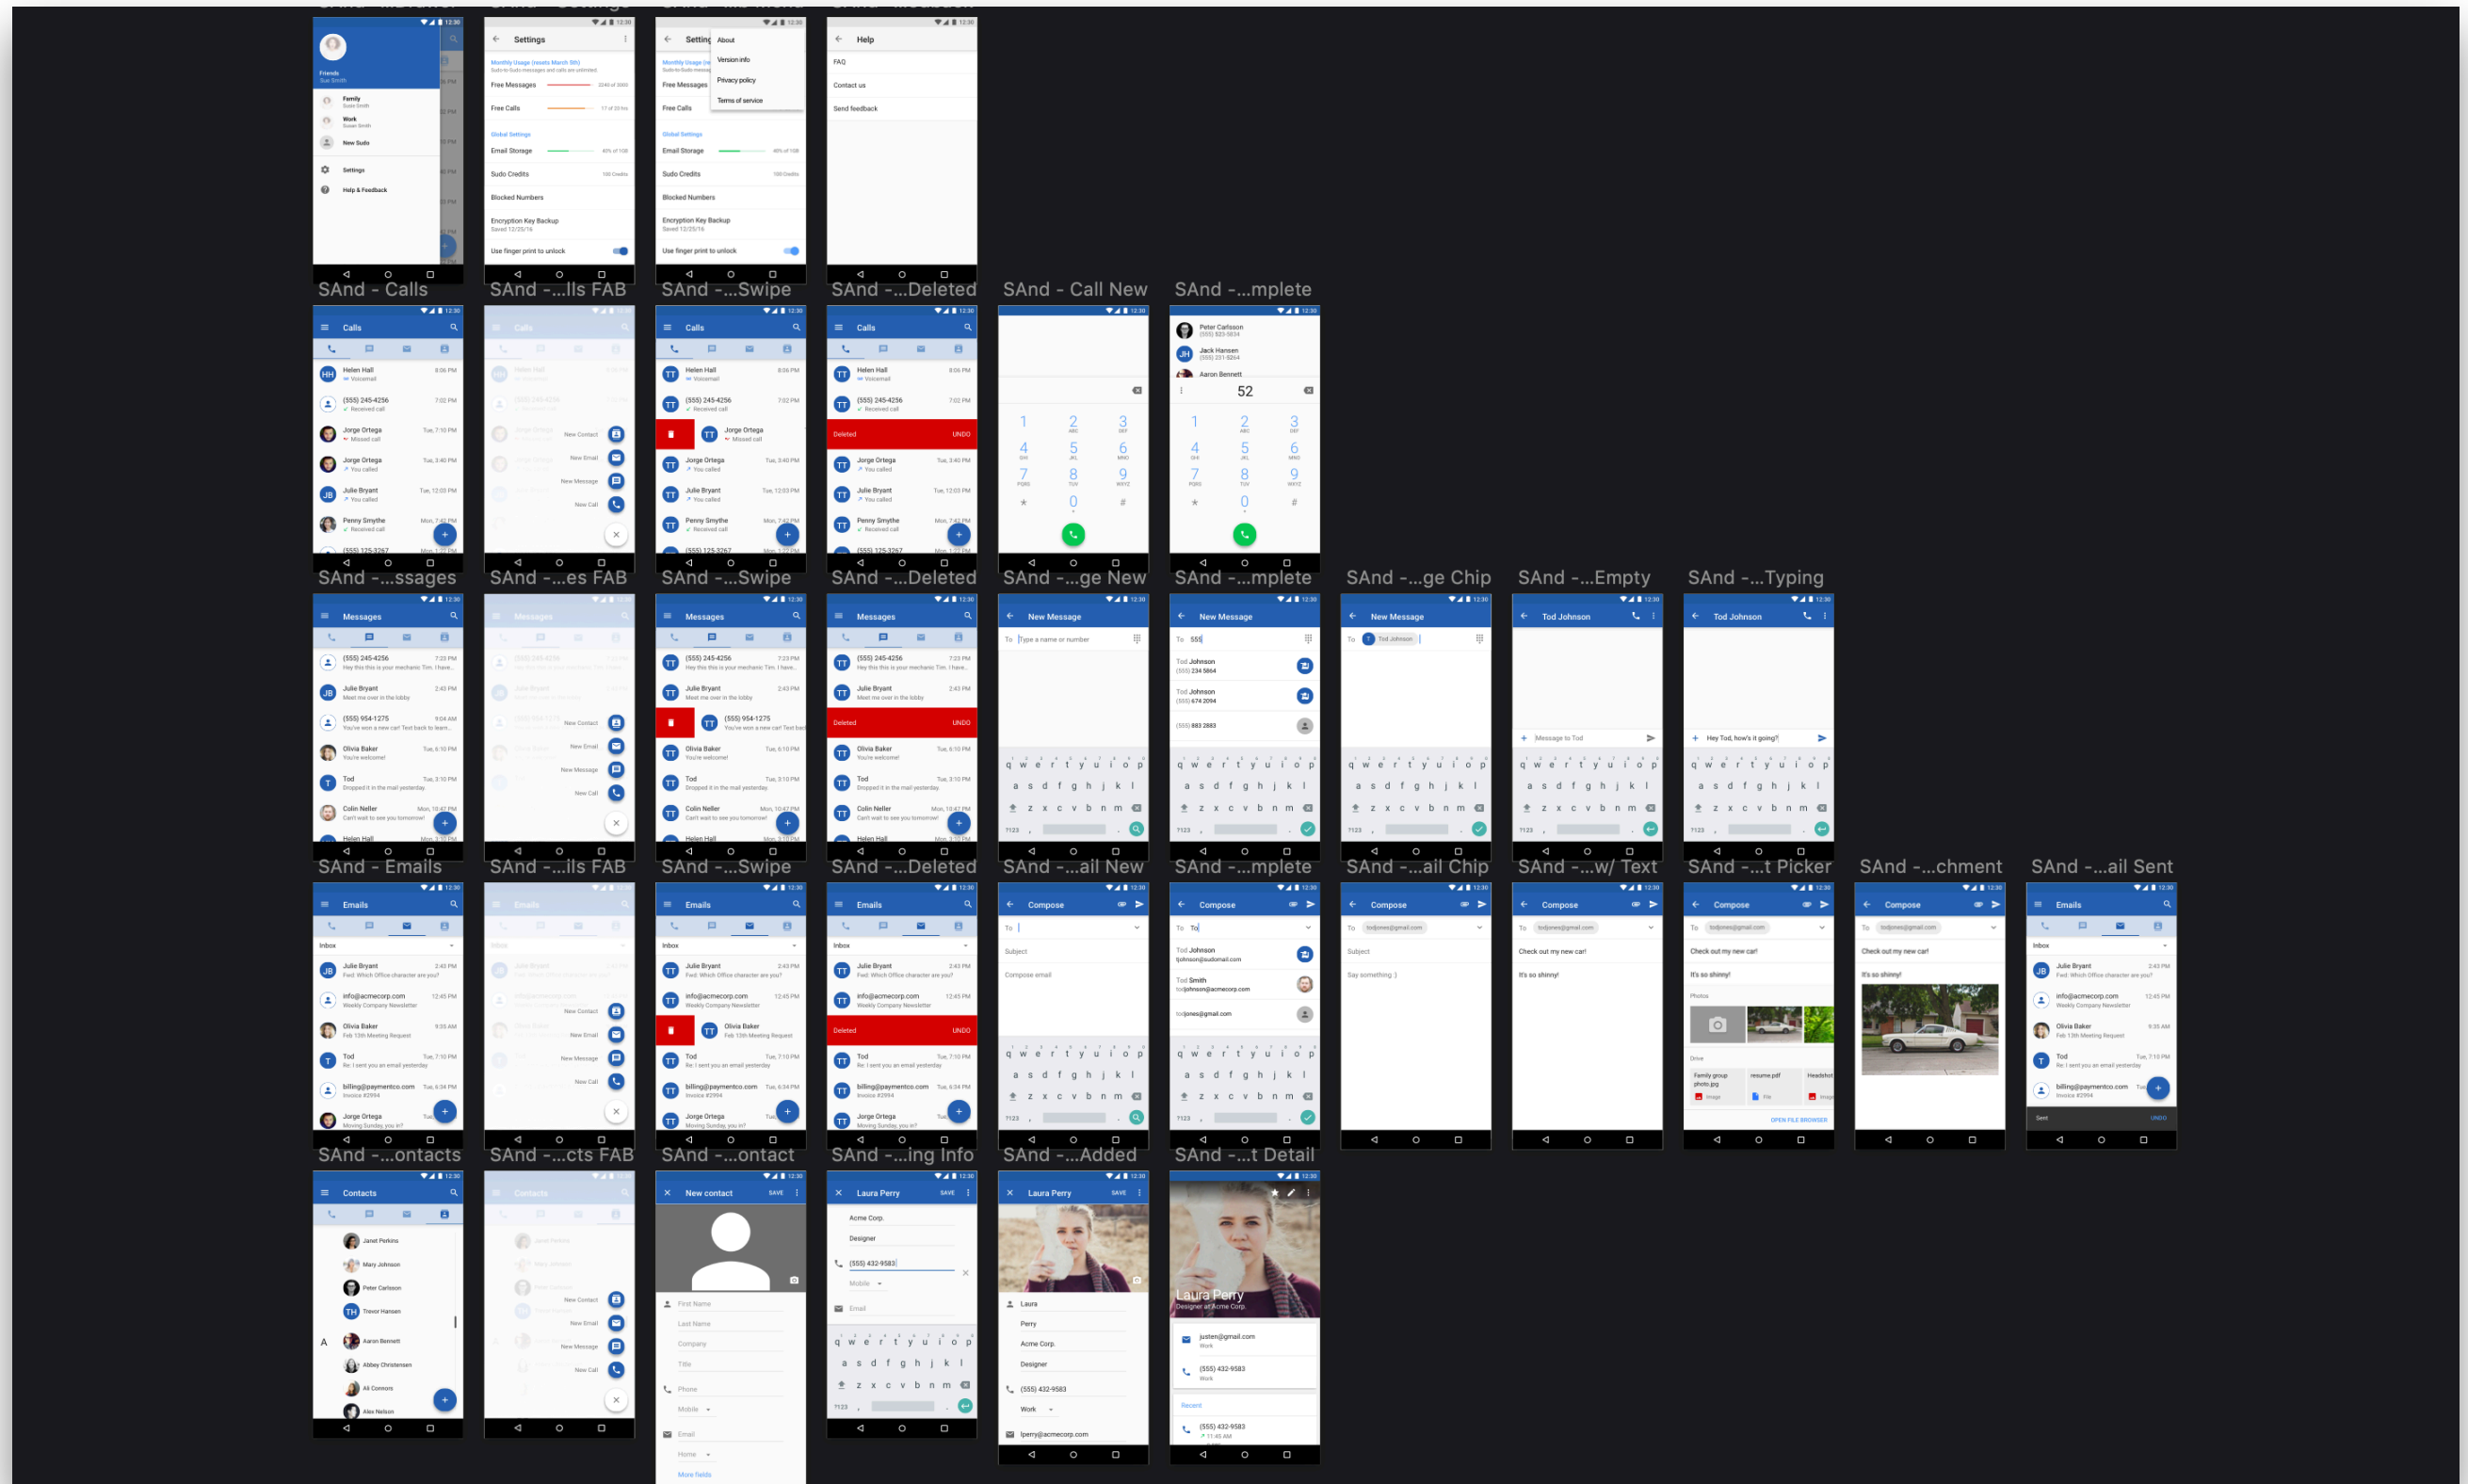

iOS design.

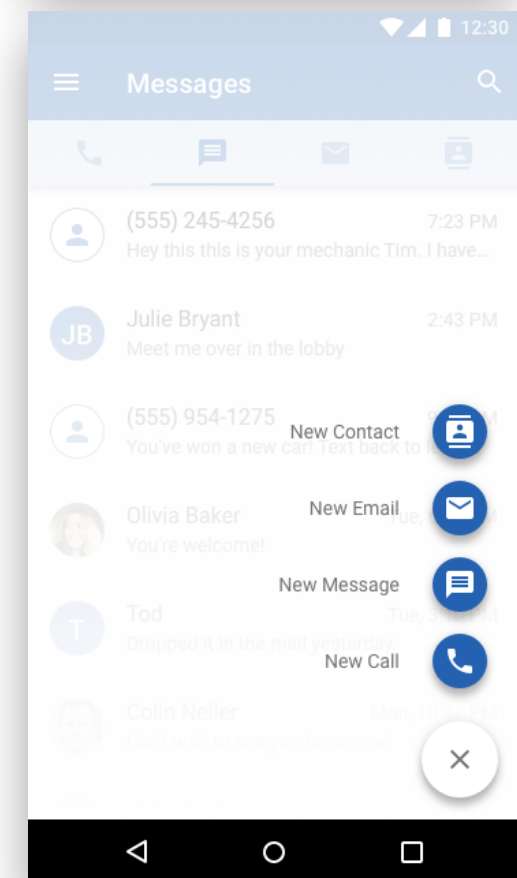

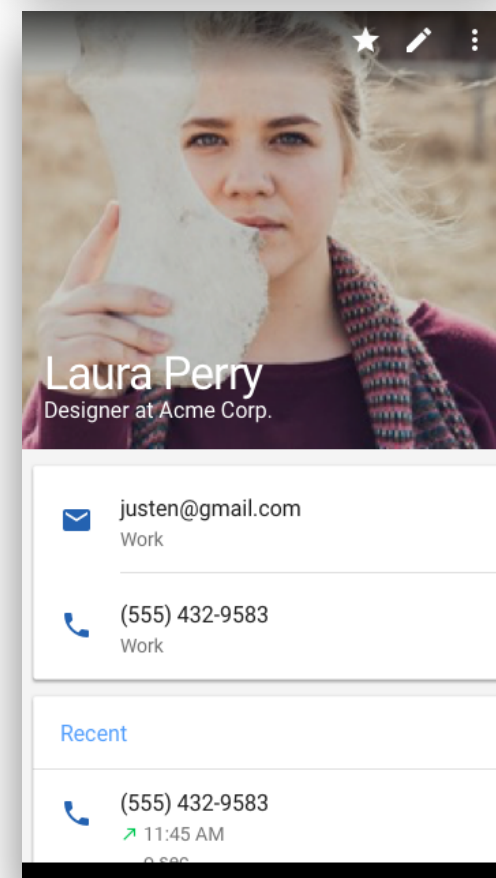

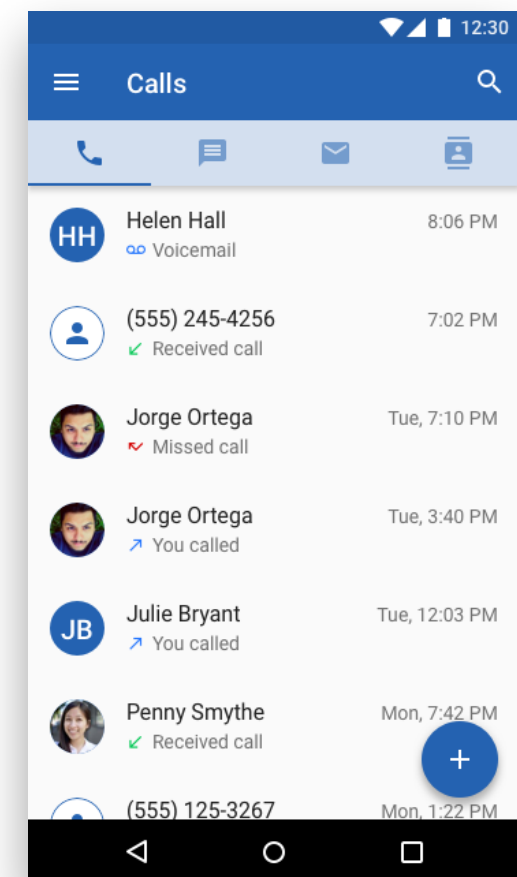

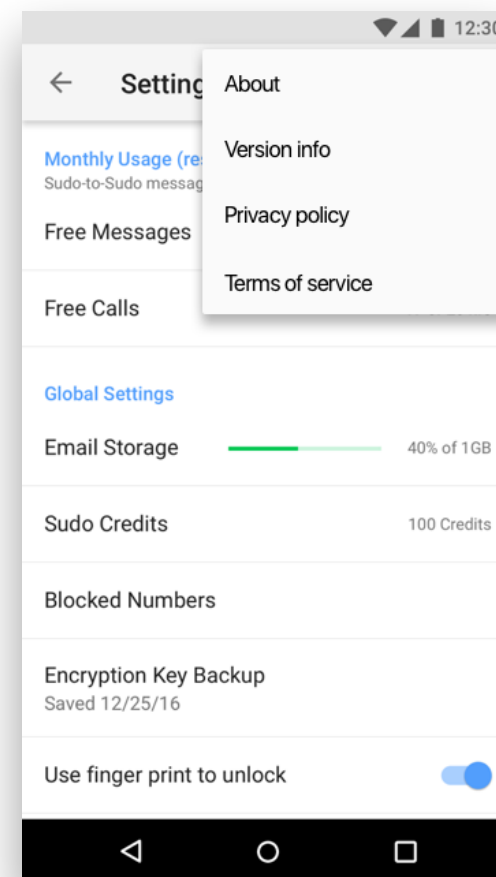

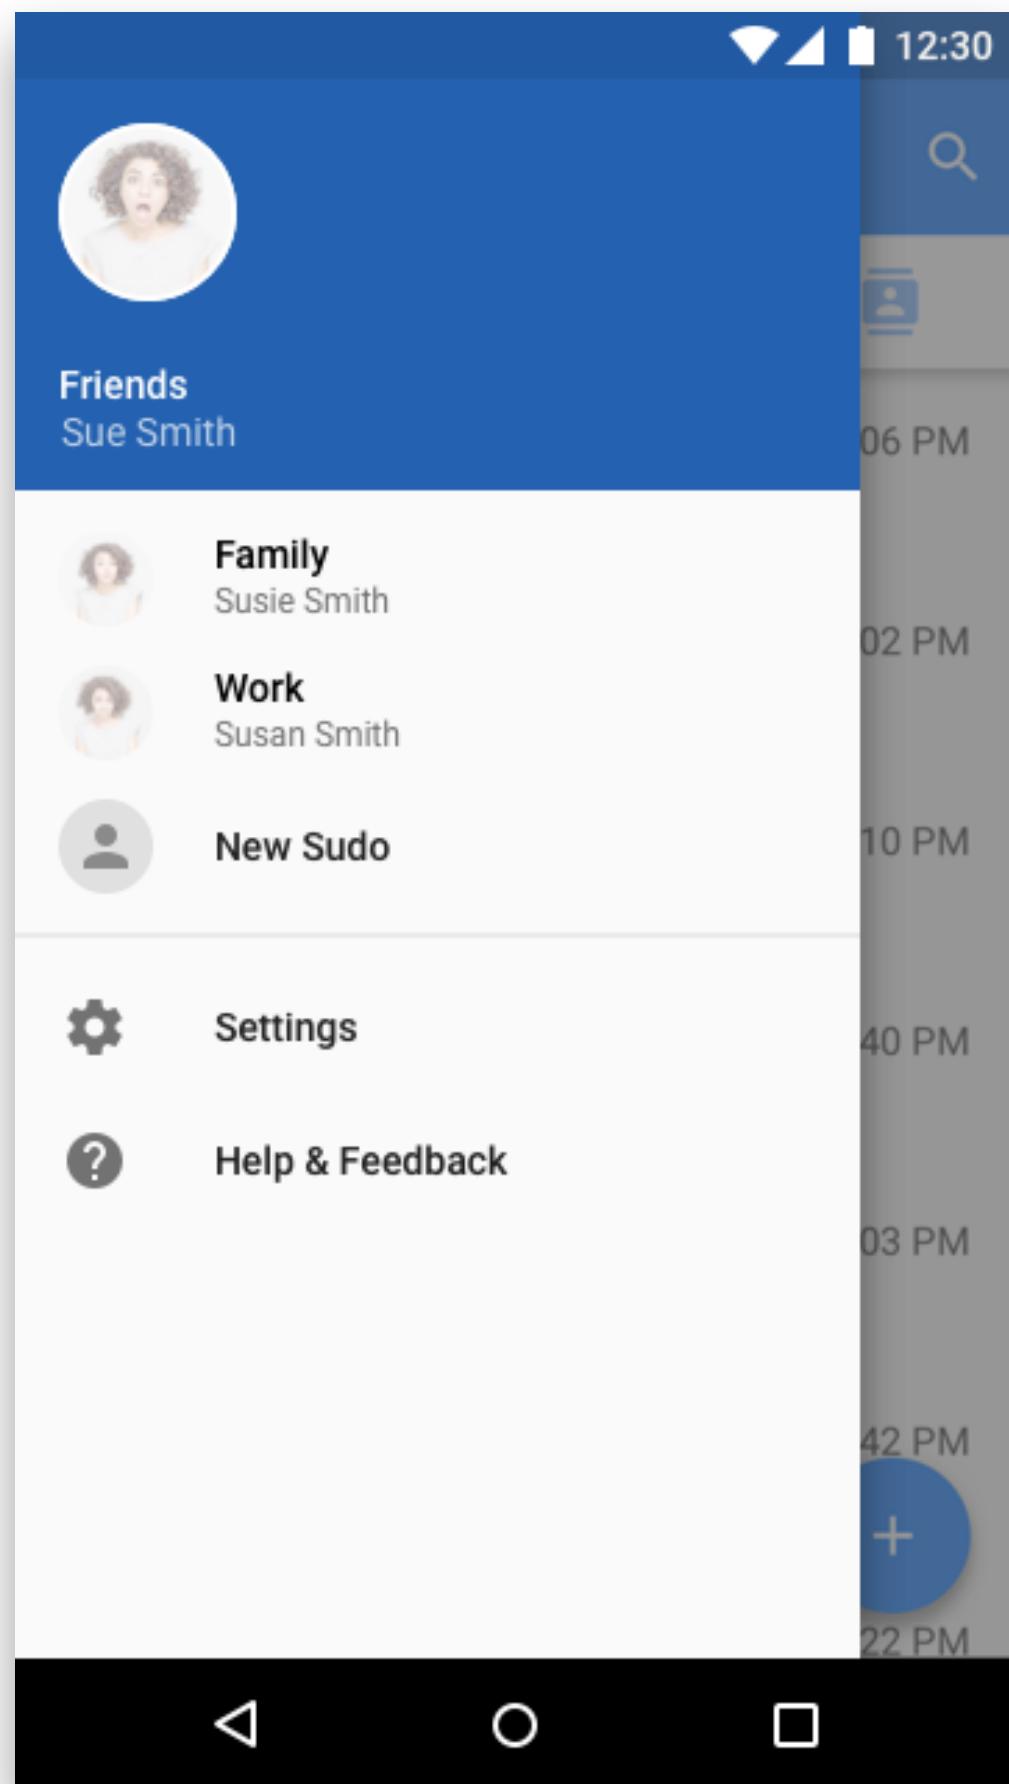

Switch Sudo

*something has washed out several of the images from this file

Android design.

*something has washed out several of the images from this file